MOTOR SKILLS CIRCUIT FOR OUR LAKESIDERS

When we talk about motor skills, we refer to the control that humans can exert over their own bodies. Typically, we associate the term "motor skills" with play, as it involves a dynamic where stimuli and previously acquired experiences are mixed, resulting in increasingly coordinated and elaborated movements.

At Lakeside, we have created a psychomotor circuit where children can go through as many times as they want. In this circuit, they can use handrails or monkey bars, walk, climb and descend different obstacles, and move around in whichever way they like or find most suitable.

The circuit helps in the acquisition of skills for writing and reading, where our Lakesiders engage in many fine motor exercises that promote manual activity, while not neglecting gross motor skills, which are crucial for improving their motor behavior. All of this, combined with our comprehensive program that fosters a love for reading and reading comprehension, which is the basic skill for learning

As a complement to this, in Kinder 3, we have a classroom library where books are shared weekly to motivate and improve the reading and writing process. The importance of the project also lies in making metacognition a part of it, bringing the book to the reality of our students.

PROUD OF OUR DIVERSITY

At Lakeside, we take pride in acknowledging the cultural diversity within our school and promote the right to this diversity.

Understanding the cultures of different countries helps our Lakesiders to better understand the world. Beyond language, we understand that communication means "sharing." What we aim for is to understand others and to be understood. As a society, we must promote the exchange of ideas and social integration, prioritizing respect. Understanding different cultures is the ideal way to lead a more enriching intellectual, emotional, moral, and spiritual life.

As an international school, at Lakeside, we promote respect and tolerance for differences, avoid stereotypes, foster harmonious coexistence, and create exchanges between different groups. Respecting cultural differences is necessary for peace, stability, and development.

Roy's Circle, which we have mentioned before, has the same intention of promoting diversity, respecting cultural differences, and inviting you to learn about Mexican culture and our language.

We invite you to a breakfast where the project will be explained in detail, which will take place on Friday, April 12th, at 8:15 am at the Lakeside School Cafeteria.
